How to celebrate Earth Day 2023?

This year marks the 53rd anniversary of the birth of the modern environmental movement, commemorated annually as Earth Day. Since 1970, billions of individuals and thousands of organizations around the have come together every April 22nd to take action towards a greener, more equitable future for our planet. As the countdown to Earth Day 2023 continues, it is important to remember regardless of where you are or what you do, you have the power to yield real change and be a champion for Earth. To protect our planet, we must invest in

Looking behind this year's theme, Invest In Our Planet, which highlights the importance of dedicating our time, resources, and energy to solving the climate crisis, here are 7 ways you can actively participate in Earth Day 2023:

Plant trees in your regular garden.
Trees are one of the most powerful tools to combat the climate crisis. Attend a local tree planting event or donate to campaigns, like EARTHDAY.ORG's The Canopy Project, to

Planting trees on Mikulja

The goal of the action is to increase the number of trees in the Mikulja that was damaged by the storm. The action will contribute to our surroundings, our city of Smederevska Palanka, and enable greenery to return to our city. The action itself would take place over 2 days, where on the first day they would actually tap up the forest a bit and get to know each other, and on the second day they would actually clean up the cleanoute in the evening by hanging out in an restaurant.The participants are expected to be well motivated, eager to help and to enjoy the contribution of the environment during these two days.

Better Together
COMMUNITY

By researching the key problems that threaten the human species, it was observed that many individuals have the intention to make a contribution to the environment, however, often one person is not enough. The idea of the sharup is to enable users to connect and organize work actions together in their environment.
